TO AID MRS. BRADLEY

Salt Lake Firm of Lawyers Is Retained.

WILL ASSIST AT THE TRIAL

Powers and Marineaux, Noted as Trial Attorneys, Will Handle Utah End of the Case—Prisoner Declines to Discuss Disinheritation of Her Children by Ex-Senator Brown.

Powers & Marineaux, of Salt Lake City, one of the most celebrated firms of trial lawyers in the West, are associated with Hoover & Wells, of this city, in the defense of Mrs. Anna M. Bradley, who is lodged in the District Jail on a charge of murdering ex-Senator Arthur Brown.

Judge George W. Bartch, of Salt Lake, former chief justice of the Supreme Court of Utah, arrived in Washington last night.

Mr. Bartch stated last evening that it was not certain that Judge Bartch would see Mrs. Bradley during his stay in the city.

Several days after the shooting of Senator Brown, and while Mrs. Bradley was confined at the House of Detention, George P. Hoover, of the firm of Wells, Hoover & Wells, was sent for at the request of the prisoner. The services of Mr. Hoover were engaged at once.

Later Robert W. Wells entered as another of her counsel. Mr. Leckie remained in the case until after the inquest over the body of Brown.

The Salt Lake City friends of Mrs. Bradley have urged her to retain the services of Judge Bartch and his associates. It is said that they have been insistent upon him handling the affair.

Mrs. Bradley had another view of the situation, however, and engaged her own counsel. Later, Mr. Leckie withdrew.

It was stated at the time that Judge Bartch was on his way to Washington to consult with the woman. He was delayed by a snowstorm, and did not start East last week, as was expected. Now, it is said, he is here to spend Christmas with his children.

Cause for Change.
It has been stated that one reason Mrs. Bradley did not wish the services of Judge Bartch was because of an old grudge of long standing between him and the man she killed. On this account she decided to change attorneys.

In case Judge Bartch desires to consult with Mrs. Bradley, it will be necessary for him to get the permission of the prisoner and her attorneys, Hoover & Wells, as well. Judge Bartch will remain here several days.

Robert W. Wells, of counsel for Mrs. Bradley, stated emphatically yesterday that there was not the slightest doubt in the world of her acquittal. He would give no hint as to what her defense would be, confining himself to prophecies of the proof of her innocence.

Mrs. Bradley sent for Mr. Wells yesterday to have a conference at the jail, and he is the only person who saw her during the day. It was positively denied that she wished to see him about the story printed in the morning papers to the effect that she and her two youngest children had been entirely cut off by the terms of ex-Senator Brown's will, filed for probate in Salt Lake City yesterday.

Matter Not Discussed.
It was declared that the matter was not discussed, but it was emphatically stated that the percentage of ex-Senator Brown would be established absolutely and undeniably. That her attorneys had in their possession every proof necessary and the most convincing evidence in the shape of letters, testimony of his friends, and his own words. Mr. Wells used strong language on this score, likening Senator Brown unto Caesar.

For two or three days past Mrs. Bradley has been preparing little Christmas packages to be shipped to her children at home. It is not known what the contents of these may be, but it can be taken for granted that they will show the marks of hot tears. These parcels were obtained through Mrs. Bradley's friends in this city. She will also send little remembrances to her friends in Salt Lake City and elsewhere. She has not as yet received any Christmas presents, and it is doubtful if she will be allowed to.

WILL HEAR CARDOZO

School Board Must Give Him Public Trial.

TEACHER VICTOR IN COURT

Justice Anderson Decides the Dismissal of the Colored Instructor Was Illegal and Orders His Reinstatement—Charges Against Him Are to Be Considered Once More.

The decision of Justice Anderson, in the District Supreme Court yesterday afternoon, announcing that the dismissal of Francis L. Cardozo was illegal has disconcerted the members of the board of education who agreed to his discharge. Those members of the board seen after the judgment was rendered yesterday did not appear to have expected such a decision, and were not disposed to make any statements. The action which will follow the decision can hardly be determined before the next meeting of the board of education, which convenes next Wednesday by order of its president, Admiral Baird. Whether or not an appeal will be taken from the decision of Judge Anderson could not be ascertained, as no one was in a position to speak authoritatively on the question.

Admiral Baird, who was present in the courtroom, would make no statement, although he intimated that Cardozo would be given a hearing, which will be public. It is probable that Cardozo will be suspended pending the decision of the board of education.

Dr. Chancellor would say nothing yesterday which would outline the position to be taken by those who were instrumental in the dismissal of Cardozo. The only statement given out by the superintendent was to the effect that neither he nor the board of education had determined the course of action.

Glad to Know the Law.
Neither Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey nor Mrs. Justina Hill had any comment to make, while Mrs. Terrell, the only colored member of the board, stated merely that if the board had erred in dismissing Mr. Cardozo without a hearing she was glad that they had been set right in the matter. In order that such a mistake would not be repeated.

Capt. Oyster, likewise, was not inclined to talk, but thought that the counsel for the board, Mr. McNamara, would make the first move.

Mr. McNamara, when seen last night, said that he would await some notification from the board of education before he took any steps in the matter. Mr. McNamara was not employed as counsel until the dismissal of Cardozo had been ratified by the board of education. His capacity is merely an advisory one, and he feels that the initiative does not rest with him. He will probably be called to the meeting on Wednesday, when some definite action will be taken.

The decision of Justice Anderson will undoubtedly have some bearing on the cases of the other public school teachers who have been dismissed without a hearing, and those who have been reduced in rank without an opportunity to appear before the board.

Justice Anderson said that the dismissal of Cardozo was illegal and void in law, and he directed that a writ of mandamus be issued against the members of the board of education to compel them to reinstate Mr. Cardozo in the position which he formerly occupied and from which he had been removed. The judge also held that Cardozo had not received a trial by the board of education on the charges made against him.

"In the judgment of the court," Justice Anderson stated, "the relator under the provisions of the act of Congress was of his right clearly entitled to be accompanied by his counsel and at least one friend of his own selection in respect to the investigation or trial of any charges made against him. This right having been denied him, the action of the board in purporting to dismiss him was and is illegal and void. To permit the action of the board to stand under such circumstances would be to disregard the plain provisions of the statute and to give judicial sanction to the manifest injustice to Cardozo."
